

the original Worman House est. 1921

The Worman House at Big Cedar Lodge has a long and fascinating history. Originally built in 1921 by Harry Worman, the president of the Frisco Railroad, it was a classically styled Tudor home used as a wilderness retreat for Harry and his young wife, Dorothy.

Later, in the 1940's, the home passed hands and became the caretaker's home for Devil's Pool Guest Ranch. After the ranch closed, the spectacular home stood empty for almost two decades until 1987. Johnny Morris, Founder of Bass Pro Shops, purchased the home as part of the property now known as Oakmont. He immediately recognized the beauty and historic quality of the Worman House and set out to restore the home to its original grandeur. Johnny renamed the resort Big Cedar Lodge after the hollow.

Now known as The Worman House, a Missouri State Historic Site and designated by the Historic Hotels of America, it is restored with the original railroad tie beams and the handmade stain glass windows that honor its place in history. We invite you to enjoy the casual atmosphere, one of the most beautiful views in the Ozarks, live entertainment, and our menu featuring fresh local ingredients that await you at this legendary historic home in Big Cedar Hollow.
